

man from Illinois [Mr. SCHISLER] is recognized for 5 minutes.

Mr. SCHISLER. Mr. Speaker, I have introduced a bill to amend the Veterans' Readjustment Benefits Act of 1966, commonly referred to as the cold war GI bill. My bill would increase the rates of financial assistance under the veterans educational assistance program and broaden that program to provide for assistance in on-the-job training programs, on-the-farm training programs, and certain flight training.

Under existing law a cold war veteran receives only $100 per month if he is pursuing a course of education on a full-time basis, $75 per month on a three-quarter-time basis, and $50 per month on a half-time basis. Under the War Orphans' Educational Assistance Act the child of a veteran who died from a service-connected disability or who is totally disabled from a service-connected cause may receive education assistance at the rate of $130 per month on a full-time basis, $95 per month on a three-quarter basis, and $60 per month on a half-time basis. It does not seem reasonable that we should have two educational assistance programs operated by the Veterans' Administration under which a cold war veteran and the child of a veteran deceased or totally disabled from service-connected cause receive different amounts of financial assistance.

My bill would increase the rates of assistance to a cold war veteran without dependents so that they would be identical to the assistance now payable under the War Orphans' Educational Assistance Act. Under existing law cold war veterans with one dependent receive assistance at the monthly rate of $125 for a full-time course, $95 for a three-quarter-time course, and $65 for a half-time course. My bill would increase these rates to $155, $115, and $75. The existing rates for a cold war veteran with two or more dependents would be increased from $150, $115, and $75, to $180, $135, and $90.

Since the War Orphans' Educational Assistance Act was enacted in 1956, the cost for tuition and required fees have increased approximately 50 percent and the costs of living have increased approximately 18 percent. Probably these costs will continue to increase and if we do not increase the rates of financial assistance to cold war veterans, the purpose of the legislation will be defeated because many veterans will be financially unable to take advantage of it.

The World War II and Korean GI bills provided for on-the-job training. This program has proved very successful in the past and I think it is only proper that the same assistance should be extended to veterans of the cold war. In fact, the need for such training increases as the increasing complexity of our technology requires greater skills and technical knowledge. Many industries already have job training programs in existence and with financial assistance such as provided to World War II and Korean conflict veterans, many cold war veterans will take advantage of this type of training with benefit not only to themselves but also with benefits to the entire economy through the provision of highly skilled workers so essential in modern production.

My bill also provides for on-the-farm training on substantially the same basis as the World War II and Korean conflict veterans received under previous GI bills. It seems to me that cold war veterans should have the same opportunity as the World War II and Korean conflict veterans to prepare themselves for a career or occupation of their choosing. Those who prefer to remain on the farm should not be penalized and denied training because of that fact.

It is well known that there is a critical shortage of qualified airline pilots. With continuous increase in air travel this shortage will become more critical in the future and I think it is very important that we have a program to cope with this critical shortage. I have provided in my bill that cold war veterans may receive assistance for flight training and I believe that will not only benefit the veterans who desire to pursue aviation as a career, but will also be of significant benefit to the general public.
